DRAWINGS

1. Drawing M2.1 – New Chilled Water System Piping Diagram Add: Strainer on the inlet pipe to the chiller

Questions

1. Drawing E1.1 shows a new receptacle at the existing boiler #2, is this required?

Answer: There is no new receptacle required at existing boiler #2. Please disregard.

2. E1.1 also shows a new receptacle at the chiller. Is there an existing receptacle currently there? Is there space in the existing buried conduits to run the new receptacle circuit? Do we need to install a new buried conduit or is there an existing conduit available that we can run the new power feed thru?

Answer: Chiller was specified with a service outlet. This outlet may be omitted.

3. M2.1 – New chilled water system piping diagram, there is a second differential pressure sensor shown. Where would this second sensor be located? Is this in the mechanical room, or elsewhere in the school?

Answer: There are two pressure differential sensors specified; one in the mechanical room and one at a remote location in the building. Final location will be determined in the field.

4. At the walk thru it was mentioned that there was existing uninsulated piping in the mechanical room. Are we required to insulate all of the uninsulated lines? How large are the lines and how many feet of lines should we figure? Or shall an allowance be established for this?

Answer: All the pipes in the mechanical room (insulated and uninsulated) will be insulated with new insulation. Contractor has to verify in the field the amount of required insulation.
